

ACTech meets the oldtimer scene at the Retro Classics 2007 in Stuttgart / Germany

Annekatriin Riediger, ACTech GmbH

After just six events, the Retro Classics is already the Number Two in Germany, perhaps even in Europe. According to the event organisers, the Retro Classics 2007 outnumbered the show of last year with regard to visitors. Fans, amateur enthusiasts, lovers of nostalgic automobile elegance or just people who get pleasure looking at the forerunners of today's automobile and motorbike brands, definitely got value for money at the Retro Classics 2007. The sector of veteran cars, vintage cars and classic cars, motorcycles, spare parts and restoration were at the center of interest this year. ACTech was definitely recognized and our services were highly appreciated among visitors and exhibitors. The Retro Classics has established itself in the minds of fans and oldtimer enthusiasts as a must event. Furthermore, its acceptance is constantly increasing in neighbouring countries, so that the trade fair, seen from an international perspective, is on an excellent path.

Source: Messe Stuttgart

